Purpose

This book is intended to preserve family history for future generations and to encourage continued genealogical research based on original source records.

Translations

Unless otherwise noted, translations of historical records are by the author. Original-language spellings, terminology, abbreviations, and punctuation have generally been preserved where they contribute to historical or genealogical accuracy.

Disclaimer

Although every effort was made to confirm the facts contained within this report, inaccuracies could occur. This report is based on known information at the time of compilation. New research may yield additional data, which could alter the presentation of the data contained within this book. The author assumes no responsibility for errors or omissions.

Privacy Notice

This printed book is published to document family history. It contains detailed information on deceased ancestors; it is not intended to include data on living individuals. Living individuals are privatized by identifying simply as (Private).

Photographs and Illustrations

Unless otherwise credited, all original photographs, illustrations, charts, maps, diagrams, page layouts, artwork, compilations, and original research contained in this publication are copyrighted by the author.

Historic photographs, documents, maps, and other reproduced materials remain the property of their respective copyright holders where applicable and are reproduced with permission, under license, or because they are believed to be in the public domain or otherwise lawfully reproduced. Copyright holders are invited to contact the publisher so that appropriate acknowledgments or corrections may be incorporated into future editions.

DNA and Genealogical Research

References to DNA testing services and genetic genealogy are presented solely for historical and genealogical research. Any interpretations are the author's and should not be construed as medical, legal, or scientific advice.

Artificial Intelligence Disclosure

Artificial intelligence tools may have been used to assist with transcription, translation, editing, image restoration, formatting, or other production tasks. The author retains sole responsibility for the accuracy of all genealogical conclusions.

Citation Policy

Every effort has been made to cite original sources whenever practical. Source citations generally follow accepted genealogical standards and are intended to assist readers in locating original records. Original spellings, abbreviations, and historical place names have generally been preserved unless otherwise noted. Source citations are intended to document the evidence supporting genealogical conclusions and to facilitate future research.

Editorial Convention

Dates are presented in day-month-year format unless reproduced from original records. Historical place names have generally been retained as they appeared at the time of each event, with modern equivalents provided where appropriate.

Forward

Genealogy work is never done.

My hobby of family history research requires an investment of time and money (access to sources and compiling the results). My goal is to document and share my results with other researchers and family members.

This is accomplished by:

1. On-line (family trees) and
2. Printed books (for those who don't want to do their own research)

In compiling books, I follow a rigorous process of verifying source data; the results are used to correct on-line family trees and expand collected data. Specifically, update family trees on FamiySearch.org and Ancestry.com.

My computer database is Reunion for Macintosh (Leister Productions, Inc) Link

My approach

Phase 1 - build an ancestral chart (going back in time).
- The goal is to discover the immigrant who came to America.
- Often difficult to discover the exact village of origin

Phase 2 - Compile the immigrant's family descendants (going forward in time).
- Often surprised to discover other family member immigrants

Traditional research is document based (paper trail).
DNA testing compliments paper trail research and typically helps with biological connections to other distant cousins.

This book is the result of my continued research into the European origins of the Yagley Family.

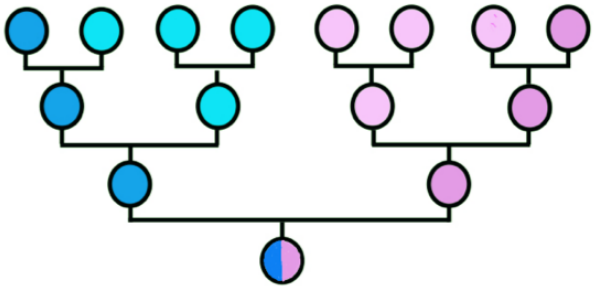
DNA

Females have X-X Chromosome pairs.
Males have X-Y Chromosome pairs.

Autosomal DNA Test

Both males and females can take the test.

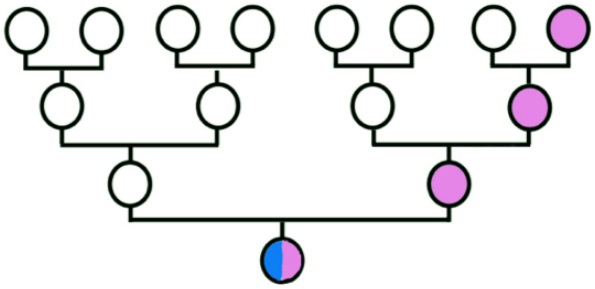
Results include ancestral origins and close genetic relationships.
Results do NOT include haplogroups



mtDNA Test
Mitochondrial DNA

Both males and females can take the test.

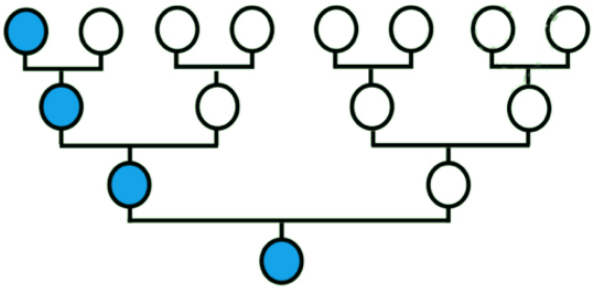
Results trace maternal line haplogroup,



Y-DNA Test

Only males can take this test; females do not have Y-chromosomes.

Results traces paternal line.haplogroups



Blue (males) Pink (female)

Introduction

Przetoczyno is a small village in Wejherowo County, Pomeranian Voivodeship, Poland.

The area has a history of struggle between Germany and Poland. Historical records may indicate Prussia, or West Prussia (Westpreußen). The region was located in Puck County (historic) and the cultural region of Kashubia.

St. Lawrence Church & Cemetery

Saint Lawrence Church has a cemetery.

- Each family is obligated to take care of the grave site.
- Many grave sites have benches nearby so that family members can pray while visiting.
- Grave sites may be used again after 20 years. This does not apply to deep graves.

Family Name Variations
Slass-Sloss-Schloss-Slaz-Szlas

The family name of Slass is the German spelling. Most of the Prussian Church records were written in German and Latin. For certain periods of time, some records are written in Polish.

In America, both Civil and Church records were consulted. The Polish Church records are written in Latin based on the Polish language. Most, but not all, of the civil record use an English language spelling based on the German language.

In summary, the family name spelling variations:

- Sloss (Prussia-German)
- Szlas (Polish)
- Schloss (English - America). Most of the Detroit civil records have the family name spelled as Schloss; some Detroit records (both civil and church) have the family name spelled as Szlas.

Family Name Variations
Feminize

Polish family names are often feminized (more so historically). Suffix examples:

- -ówna: Used for a woman who was never married
- -owa/-'ina/-'yna: Used for a married woman or widow
- -ska: The feminine form of suffixes like -ski, -cki, and -disk.
  For example, the family name of Wojewski, for a female is Wojewska.

Family Name Variations
Wojewski-Jagla-Yagley (Detroit)

Rozalia Sloss married (1st) Johann Wojewski and had four children.
Rozalia Sloss Wojewski married (2nd) Valentine Jagla and had four additional children.

Family Name used in Detroit	Approximent Year of Usage	Notes
Jagla	Wojewski family name changed to Jagla when Rosalia (Schloss) Wojewski married 2nd to Valentine Jagla (1873), Detroit. No known usage of Jagla after 1917.	Last known Jagla user was Rosalia (Szlas) Jagla, who died 1917, Detroit.
Jaglay	About 1920-1930.	Only used by Joseph S. Jaglay family. Joseph S. Jaglay died 1955; his 2nd wife, Francis (Banach) Jaglay, died 1975.
Yagley	Earliest usage 1892.	Earliest usage 1892. The John Jagla family adopted the Yagley name about 1910. Used by all current day descendants of John Yagley.

First Name Variations

The reader should become familiar of the following first name, variations and English equivalents:

Rozalia – Rosalia	Franz – Frank
Johann – John	Albrecht
Franciska - Franziska - Francisca (female)	Theophil - Theopheus
Wilhelm – William	Otillie
Apollonia – Pauline	Mathilde – Matilda
Dorothea – Dorothy	Walenty - Valentine
Larentius - Lawrence	Wladyslaw - Walter
Antoni - Anton, Anthony	Xavier
Stanislaus - Stanley	Jozef - Joseph
Franciszek - Francis (male)	Teofil - Theophil
Michal - Michael	Konrad - Conrad
Augusta - Augustina (female)	August (male)

Church Record - Luzino Parish

The Luzino Roman Catholic Church records were microfilmed 1955, 1967, 1982, 1987. There are 12 microfilm rolls and can be accessed through FamilySearch.org. The films are known as Family History Library (FHL). The original church records are in German, Polish and Latin and cover the period from 1630-1910.

The link: https://www.familysearch.org/search/catalog/374824

Here is a description of the books and microfilm from FamilySearch.org.

> Mikrofilm zrobiony z rękopisów w Berlin, Archiwum Diecezji Chełmińskiej w Pelplinie, Stadtarchiv Augsburg i archiwum parafialne w Luzinie.

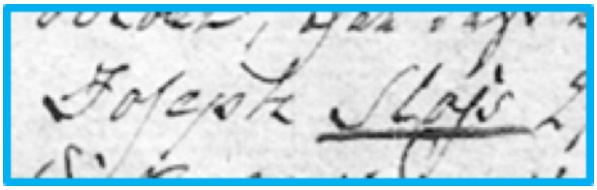
I added the English description (2nd column).

FamilySearch.org also has Luzino Civil records, but these are only for the period 1874-1883.

Working with the Church records was a challenge. Some films have an index, but not all images have been indexed. These are handwritten records in German/Polish/Latin (depends on the time period). When working with the records, one has to decipher the date and name and location (village). It can be done, although it is not an easy task. Records of interest are noted in the footnotes along with a web link.



An example of handwritten church record.

Source information

Many sources were consulted for this project. Most sources appear in footnotes. This provides a traceable accounting of data. Primary sources (original records from the same time as the event) are the most reliable. Secondary sources (compilations assembled a long time after the event) are subject to interpretation of the person assembling the data and may contain errors.

Common sources used in this publication:

1. Vital records (birth/baptism, marriage, death).
   - Can be either civil government or church records.
2. Cemeteries - Written cemetery documents and grave markers (many, but not all, graves).
   - Many older cemetery records are not on-site. Locating the records is usually a challenge.
   - Many times field work is required (plots and lots)
3. Census Records - A census is usually recorded every ten years. Available census records: United States Federal Census Records: 1790, 1800, 1810, 1820, 1830, 1840, 1850, 1860, 1870, 1880, 1900, 1910, 1920, 1930 and 1940. Note: Most of the 1890 U. S. Census was destroyed in a fire.
4. Private family histories, photographs and portraits.
5. Newspapers - News articles of interest, death notices and obituaries.
6. Military Records.

Access to Sources

Many historic records have been microfilmed as part of historic preservation projects and are internet accessible. Some are freely accessible, some require user registration (REG) and other require paid subscription ($).

My most common resources:

1. FamilySearch.org (REG)
2. Find-A-Grave (FREE)
3. Ancestry.com ($)
4. Newspapers.com ($)

This book documents the Joseph and Franciska Slass family of Przetococzyno, Luzino Parish, Wejherowo County, Pomerani Wejherowo County, Pomerania, Poland. Five generations of Slass-Schloss-Szlas descendants are presented. Source documentation is included.

Joseph Slass and Franciska Skelnik had 9 children; 2 died early; 7 survived into adulthood.

- 4 immigrated to Detroit, Michigan, USA.
- 3 stayed in Poland.

Of the (4) immigrant children:

- Joseph (Sloss) Schloss, married, immigrated first circa 1870/1871.
- Rosalia Sloss Wojewski, immigrated next, in 1872. Rosalia's husband, Johann Anton Wojewski, immigrated first, followed soon after by Rosalia and her (3) children. When she arrived in Detroit, she was met with the sad news that her husband died in an industrial accident. In Jan 1873 (Detroit), she married Valentine Jagla and became known as Rosalia Jagla. This is the origin of the Yagley family name of Detroit, Michigan, USA.
- Wilhelm August (Sloss) Schloss, single, immigrated circa 1872.
  Wilhelm married in Detroit and soon afterward moved to nearby Macomb County.
- Franz Michael (Sloss) Schloss, single, immigrated circa 1878. Single Rosalia Slass married (1) Johann Anton Wojewski, 19 Jan 1863, Przetczyno, Wejherowo County, Pomerania, Poland; [26] the son of Joseph Wojewski and Marianna Henning. Johann Wojewski was born 28 Oct 1832, Czestkowo, Wejherowo County, Pomerania, Poland; [27] died Oct/Nov/Dec (?) 1872, Detroit?, Wayne County, Michigan; [28] burial details unknown, Detroit (?), Wayne Co., Michigan, USA. [29] [30] Rosalia and Johann Wojewski had four children; all born in Poland. Rosalia and her three surviving children immigrated to Detroit, Michigan in 1872.

Rosalia Slass married (2) Valentine Jagla, 21 Jan 1873, St. Albertus Church, Detroit, Wayne Co., Michigan, USA; [31] the son of Lawrence (Laurentius) Jagla and NN. Valentine Jagla was born 17 Dec 1841, Poland; died in 25 Aug 1913, Detroit; buried 28 Aug 1913; Mt. Olivet Cemetery (next to wife Rosalia), Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan. [32] No documentation has been uncovered in the Detroit area concerning Lawrence Jagla; hence, he probably did not immigrate to Detroit. Valentine Jagla immigrated to Detroit in 1870.

The family story about how Rosalia, John and Augusta Yagley came to America is as follows: [33]

> " Edward J. Yagley Sr.'s (my father) father, John Yagley, was brought over from (Germany?) (Poland?) by his mother to join her husband in the U.S.A. When they arrived her husband's friend met her with the sad news her husband had died. Eventually she married the friend, ? Yagley, and the couple had 2 more children, Joseph + Anna. I don't if John was ever legally adopted or just assumes the Yagley name or what his blood father's name was. "

[33] This is the verbal Yagley family history as told by Anna Jagla Kubiak to Evelyn (Yagley) Reske. This story was written down in 1979 and signed by Evelyn (Yagley) Reske, and co-signed by Loraine (Yagley) Bubnar, Eugene R. Yagley and Edward J. Yagley Jr. (all children of Edward Jerome Yagley) by request of Robert Yagley Sr. for Robert Yagley Jr. as part of his family history research project.

The identical story was told by Anna (Jagla) Kubiak to her children and passed down to her grandchildren. [34] The Kubiak version added the fact that Johann Wojewski died in an industrial accident in Detroit. In addition, Johann Wojewski and Valentine Jagla were friends prior to the fatal accident.

Signature - Valentine Jagla
From 1896 Naturalization Oath

The family story is fairly accurate, for historical records indicate that Rosalia immigrated to Detroit in 1872, and that as a widow, she married a second time, 21 Jan 1873, Detroit. However, the death records for Wayne County, Michigan have been searched and Johann Wojewski is not listed amongst the deceased; perhaps his death was recorded with a spelling variation and we have not yet discovered the name/ variation.

The two Wojewski children (Augusta and John) are listed under the Jagla family name for the 1880 U. S. Census. When Augusta married in 1881, her name is listed as Augusta Wojewska (and not Jagla). Son John Wojewski used the Jagla (Yagley) family name for the rest of his life.

Valentine Jagla filed for Intentions to become a U.S. Citizen on 16 Mar 1875. He took the naturalization oath on 21 Sep 1896 in Detroit, which consisted of renouncing his allegiance to William II, Emperor of Germany, of which he was a subject. [10]

Valentine was a laborer, residing at 468 E. Willis Ave, Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan (1888 until 1913). Valentine Jagla was a laborer, Detroit (1880); [35] laborer, Detroit (1900); [36] laborer, odd jobs, Detroit (1910). [37]

Rosalia and Valentine were members of St. Albertus Church, Detroit (1873-1917).

Per the 1900 US Census, Rosalia Slass Jagla was the mother of 6 children; 6 were alive in 1900.

The 1910 US Census indicates that Rosalia Slass Jagla was the mother of 4 children; 4 were alive in 1910. The 1910 US Census has a discrepancy, for Rosalia was the mother of a total of 8 children. Perhaps the 1910 data was answered with respect to the number of children she had with her 2nd husband Valentine.

Valentine and Rosalia Jagla used the Jagla family name until the day they each died. However, the two male children of Rosalia each ended up with distinct last-name variants.

The spelling variations started to appear during the 1890s.

[34] This is the verbal Kubiak family history as told by Anna Jagla Kubiak to her daughters, Bernice (Kubiak) Rollins, Leona (Kubiak) Yule and Alvina (Kubiak) Eckhardt. This story was passed down to the grandchildren and was recently confirmed via phone conversation between Joanne (Eckhardt) Thomas and Robert Yagley, July 2008.

John Wojewski had adopted the Jagla name when Rosalia married Valentine in 1873. Various Jagla-Yagle variants were used during the period 1900-1916; after 1920, the name used was Yagley. John Wojewski-Jagla was born Johann Wojewski; and died as John Yagley. His (5) male children continued to use the Yagley name.

Joseph Jagla used Jagla and then Jaglay. Joseph Jagla died as Joseph Jaglay. Joseph did not have any male children, so the Jaglay named died when Joseph died.

John immigrated to Detroit in 1872. Pauline immigrated to Detroit about 1887.

John A. Yagley was a painter, Detroit (1887); a cigar maker, Detroit (1892 - 1926); cigar maker, Detroit (1900); [140] cigar maker, living at his parent's household (1910); [141] Pauline (no occupation) and children living in a separate household (1910); [142] John Yagley, unemployed and living with in the Miller household, Erin Township, Macolm Co., Michigan (1920). [143] Pauline (no occupation), living with son Walter, Detroit (1920); [144] Pauline resided Dearborn, Wayne Co., Michigan (1930); [145] (1940); [146] (1950). [147] After the death of John Yagley, Pauline became active in the real estate business.

John and Pauline were divorced in 1908; John had a alcohol problem and that was the reason for the separation/divorce. On the 25th wedding anniversary (1914), John & Pauline were 'together again' and there was a 25 wedding anniversary celebration; but shortly thereafter, she threw him out again. They are listed in separate households in 1910 and 1920 U. S. Census records. John Yagley's burial site does not have a grave marker.

Memory of family story recalled by Thomas Yagley (2008):

During WWII(?), there was an escaped German prisoner of war (POW) in the States. Pauline made a statement to the effect that if the POW was in her neighborhood, she would provide food & shelter to the POW; after all he is from the homeland. Her sons Walter and Anthony could not believe she made this statement; they were both totally flabbergasted and dismayed at her remark.

Pauline had a 'strong willed' personality. This personality was a influencing factor that she demanded care from her son Walter and why Walter never married.

John A. Jagla/Yagley used the name Jagla up until 1908, at which time he switched over to the name we commonly know today, as Yagley.

John Yagley was struck and killed by an auto; the driver, a doctor, faced homicide charges in the incident.

Pauline Brzoskowski Jagla was the mother of 8 children; 6 were alive in 1900.

Joseph S. Jaglay was a Democratic candidate in the primary for Michigan state senate, 3rd District, 1928; defeated.

Joseph Stanley Jaglay resided near Wayne (Belleville), Wayne County, Michigan (1930's). One summer, Edward J. Yagley Jr., visited his 'Uncle Joe' and stayed for a week or two during the summertime.

Joseph Jaglay continued the use of 'Jaglay' spelling and never adopted the 'Yagley' spelling.

Joseph Jaglay resided in Belleville, Wayne County, Michigan (1930's); near Canton Center (Road), off of Michigan Avenue. Later, he resided on Outer Drive, Detroit, about 1-2 blocks near St. David's Church.

Concerning Uncle Joseph:

Joseph Jaglay made his money off of land contracts he bought during the depression era. The land contracts were in Hamtramck. After the depression, he made his money. Joseph Jaglay was trusting and very lenient when families could not make a few payments; he only foreclosed when he had to.

"I had a lot of respect for Uncle Joe. He was very trusting of me. I remember one time, I was at his house in Belleville and was getting ready to cut the lawn. I was about 13 years of age. I went and told Uncle Joe that there was no gas. He just threw me his car keys and told me to go get some…. "

Another story of how trusting Uncle Joe was of me….:

"I remember another time Uncle Joe let me go hunting on his property. I was only about 12 or 13, but he let me use a gun (20 gauge, pump type). Uncle Joe had a lot of trust in me that I would be careful."

Concerning Joseph & Frances marriage:

"Frances Banach married later in life about late 40's/early 50's (age). Frances was good with money; she made it through the depression and was doing ok financially. She had her own home on Fischer Avenue (Detroit). Frances and Joseph were married about 1937(?). They meet each other at church"

Concerning Family name Jaglay:

The pronunciation of the Jaglay name is 'yah-way'. The J is silent. The l is also silent.

Concerning Jagla Family origins:

The Jagla family was from Posen, Poland. Joseph Jagla bought his summer cottage up near Posen, Presque Isle County, Michigan.
(Editor's note: Joseph Jaglay had a summer cottage at Lake Otsego, Michigan).

Concerning Uncle Joe's daughter Dorothy:
Dorothy was an adopted daughter. I remember that Uncle Joe bought her a 1938 Ford. I recall going up to his lodge up near Grand Lake (Alpena) and Dorothy also being there. I also recall going skating with her once (during the 1930's). I don't know much about her after the late 30's. She married a taxi driver. She was not close to her father.

Concerning Frances after Uncle Joseph died:
My father (Edward Krogulski) had bought an 80 acre farm (Bentley, Bay County, Michigan). Frances moved up here and had her own place (on or near the farm) and was able to take care of herself. Frances developed a bad case of senile dementia (perhaps Alzheimer's disease). When her health deteriorated and she was not able to care for herself, she moved into my parents home. She died about 3-4 months later. She is buried at St. Mary's Cemetery.

Concerning photos:
I have a wall full of photos. I also have large portraits of Frances in her wedding dress; the portrait is large about 2 feet x 3 feet in size. I also have a large portrait of Joseph; about 2 feet x 3 feet in size. (Editor's note: these portraits must be the original portraits owned by Joseph and Frances).

Joseph Stanley Jaglay made a fair amount of money during the 1930's, in real estate and insurance deals. A couple of years before he died, Walter Kubiak used to drive Joseph Jaglay to the medical hospital for treatment; the distance was long; therefore Joseph Jaglay moved into (or built?) a ranch house at 8411 East Outer drive; the purpose was to have shorter distance to the hospital for treatment. Joseph Jaglay paid cash for this house.

When Joseph Jaglay died (1956), it is known that (nephew) Edward J. Yagley Sr. received an inheritance ($10,000 or so).

Children of Joseph Stanley (Jagla) Jaglay and Clara Kozlowski:

+85 i. Benedict Jagla (1902-1902)

+86 ii. Dorothy Jaglay (adopted) (1917-1988)
Married Delos David Cummings (2) children

Children of Joseph Stanley (Jagla) Jaglay and Frances Banach: None

33. Anna B. Jagla Yagley, born 1 Aug 1882 (or Aug 1883), Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan; died 7 Apr 1969; burial (next to husband) Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan. [183] Anna B. Yagley was the daughter of Valentine Jagla and Rosalia Slass. (5)

Anna B. Yagley married Walter Joseph Kubiak, 4 Sep 1905, Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan; [184] son of Anthony Kubiak and Josephine Bressenski? Walter J. Kubiak, born 5 Sep 1882, Poland-Germany; died 19 Jul 1965, Detroit; buried (next to wife) Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan.[185] The Kubiak family emigrated from Poland about 1886.

Anna Jagla was a cigar roller, Detroit (1900). [186] Walter was a laborer, box factory, Carrollton, Saginaw Co., Michigan (1900); [187] carpenter, Detroit (1905); machinist, Detroit (1910); [188] toolmaker, Detroit (1911); employed by American Car and Foundry, Detroit (1918); machine repairer at auto factory, Detroit (1920); [189] foreman at Hamtramck Lumber & Supply Co., (1925-1929); foreman at lumber yard, Detroit (1930); [190] carpenter, Detroit (1934); machine repair, Detroit (1940); [191] inspector, Detroit (1941); resided Alpena, Alpena Co., Michigan, USA (1950). [192]

Walter Kubiak enjoyed fishing and gardening. Memories from grandson, Lloyd Eckhardt (2008):

> "I remember my Grandfather Walter Kubiak as a person who liked fishing. In the 60s we use to go up north in Gaylord MI and vacation with my uncle Gill Rollins. I remember going out on a small boat on Otsego Lake with my dad and Grandfather and catch many perch and bluegill. As soon as we got back in shore we would clean them and have them for dinner that night. Yummy!!! Gramps also enjoyed gardening. In there later years they moved in our house in Roseville MI had he was always digging somewhere. As a matter of fact that's what doing when he passed away. He was digging on the side of the house, he set the shovel against the house and quickly passed on. He died doing what he loved.
> As for my grandmother Anna Yagley my memory is very sketchy. I guess the fishing made a bigger impression on me. I mostly remember that she was a religious person. She would spend with me telling me religious stories. She had a crucifix that slid open and had a couple candles san a vile of holy water in it. I thought that was the coolest thing. "

Memories from grandson, Gilbert Rollins (Jr.) (2008, when asked about his father):

> " …This is absolutely my father (Gilbert Rollins). He roomed with Ralph Billburg over the decades. When we owned our motel in Alpena, Dad worked in the Detroit area in a tool & Die shop, roomed with Ralph and commuted to Alpena (where we lived - Walter and Anna Kubiak lived with us) on the weekends. The Billburgs and Rollins swapped houses for 1-2 weeks in the summer as a vacation (Grandpa - Walter Kubiak - ran the motel for that period). Ralph had one of the early TVs with a circular screen and lived adjacent to Chandler Park at the time. "

Memories from Robert Yagley Sr. (2008):

> " I remember Anna & Walter telling me a funny story about Walter, who had an accident at work in which he lost his finger. Uncle Walter had his finger bandaged with cotton stuffed into the void where his finger had been and fibbed to Aunt Anna because he hoped to find a gentler way to break the news to her, but it did not work out that way!!! Shortly thereafter, and while he was unaware of it, the stuffed bandage collapsed, but Aunt Anna quickly noticed his subterfuge and broke into tears. Obviously, she did NOT consider this as a gentle way to find out about it! Of course, when they told me the story, it was many years afterwards.. They told it as just as a funny little story!!!
> I also remember as a young kid, Walter and Anna Kubiak would frequently play pinochle (cards) with my parents (Edward and Leona Yagley). " worked on. After testing his working prototype, it was accepted by the military and was used on airplanes in World War II. He was proud of that accomplishment.

Anna Yagley was the mother of 3 children of which 1 was alive (1910).

In the years that my parents lived, no one had a hobby as we think of hobbies today. One thing I do remember of my dad was that he always made Sunday breakfast for us. When one would come home from Church on Sunday morning, one could always expect Dad to have a breakfast of eggs, bacon or ham with toast and some fired apples or bananas or maybe some fried pineapple rings. Other times it may be French Toast or Pancakes. His Sunday breakfasts were GREAT!

Mother also had no hobbies, but she spent most of her time in the kitchen. Everything was made from "scratch", no boxed cakes or frozen foods. I remember her Sweet Potatoes and her Data Nut Cookies even to this day. One might say her hobby was being a Mother. Thanks MOM".

George & Helen had a cottage on Long Lake (near Alpena, Michigan).
Memories from Gil Rollins II, 2008:

> "George and Helen King were the right people. They had a cottage on Long Lake near Alpena, MI. Used to visit them in the summer. I believe it may have been there that my aunt Alvina 'rescued' me before church one Sunday when I fell off a boat tied to the dock while dropping rocks on minnows, in, probably, 2 feet of water or less. The Kings (and his partner Huckselmeirer / Huchsermeyer(sp)) used to play cards with my parents. One of them (George?) died the same time as my mother and their funerals were almost the same day.
> I seem to recall a son (Georgie?) and possibly daughter for the Kings."

Memories from Harold Krogulski (2008), concerning Dorothy:

Dorothy was an adopted daughter. I remember that Uncle Joe bought her a 1938 Ford. I recall going up to his lodge up near Grand Lake (Alpena) and Dorothy also being there. I also recall going skating with her once (during the 1930's). I don't know much about her after the late 30's. She married a taxi driver. She was not close to her father in later years.
